

MAC LESSON #69

6X FAST WAY TO GET TO INTERNET WEB PAGES

Normally in Safari you would type "http://www.jefflevy.com" to open my Web page. We're so used to doing that every time we want to see a Web page, yet it's such a waste of time.

To get to Web pages really quickly, just type jefflevy and Safari will add the "http://www" and the ".com" for you. This works on all Mac Web Browsers except America Online's version of Netscape.

To go directly to sub pages using browsers other than Netscape and Mozilla Firefox, you can, for example, just type apple / support or www.apple.com/support to get to the support page on the Apple Web site.

It's that easy.
